Privacy Commitment

Pulse Travel is committed to maintaining, securing and protecting client's privacy and safeguarding client's information under its obligations of the Privacy Act.

Clients choose to utilise the professional services of Pulse Travel (ABN 42010936179) because of our commitment to providing clients with the best possible customer service experience. Pulse Travel is bound by the Privacy Act 1988, which sets out a number of principles concerning the privacy of individuals and clients. This Privacy Policy summarises how Pulse Travel handles your personal information. Pulse Travel may revise this January 2019 Privacy Policy from time to time by updating this page.

Privacy Statement

Your Privacy is important to you so it's also important to Pulse Travel. This privacy statement also includes the policy on how we collate, manage and report client's credit information.

Information Collected, Managed and Utilised

The business provides many travel management and reservation services to both domestic and international corporate and leisure clients. This necessitates us to manage, collate, store and distribute client information to a range of suppliers including Airlines, Hotels, Car Rental operators, Transfer operators, Cruise Lines, Railway companies, Insurance Companies, Destination Management Companies, Tour Companies, Embassies, Consulates, Foreign Governments, Guides, Airport operators, Telecommunication companies, Credit Card companies, Loyalty Program companies, GDS & Reservations companies, banks, credit controllers, etc.

The quantity of information captured depends upon the services clients request from Pulse Travel. Information collected and managed may include name, aliases, date of birth, address, telephone numbers, email addresses, passport details, immigration and visa information, driver's licence details, frequent flyer details, travel itineraries, FF access details, meal/seating/room preferences, health issues, allergies, financial & credit details, other similar personal details provided voluntarily, etc.

Sensitive information as stated within the Privacy Act are not collected. eg: Ethnicity, Race, Political persuasion, Personal information, Health (unless its volunteered), religion, criminal history (unless it's volunteered).

This information is collected and stored only to ensure your travel requests are expedited and managed to a quality level of your choosing. Eg: If you are a frequent traveller, you may choose to have your Client Profile details stored for your repeated trips.

This information is gathered only from travellers directly or from their representatives who organise travel on your behalf.

However, if you do not accept cookies, you may not be able to use some portions of our website. The security of your Personal Information is important to us, but no method of transmission over the Internet, or method of electronic storage, is 100% secure. Whilst Pulse Travel strives to use commercially acceptable means to protect your Personal Information, we cannot guarantee its absolute security.

This client information is only utilised in reservations when requested by clients as mentioned earlier. This information is protected by a variety security networks and fraud protection systems. Corporate client information is stored and managed on behalf of clients to assist them in their reconciliation and for client management purposes. A variety of client reports are accessible both online and by request from your client account manager. These reports assist clients to update their Corporate Travel Policies and to meet their constant improvement initiatives.

Clients are also encouraged to review information distributed directly to them. This information educates clients on industry news, updates on supplier's products and travel safety alerts. Naturally clients can opt out at anytime.

All businesses are required to comply with legal request for information by third parties. These requests may be from Taxation offices, law enforcement or are court appointed requests. Clients may also choose to access their information or ask Pulse Travel to supply their information to a third party. Pulse Travel will remain compliant in these circumstances.

Credit Reporting

Pulse Travel receives payments from clients in a variety of formats including cash, cheques, direct deposits and from credit cards. Pulse Travel is not bank nor does it have credit management experience. We are therefore unable to offer credit to any client. Clients predominantly utilise credit cards and enjoy the credits offerings and loyalty programs that these credits cards offer. There is no reason without client's prior written authority for Pulse Travel to be involved in any Client Credit Reporting other than credit cards utilised to book reservations authorised by a client. Corporate Clients will be asked to review a preauthorised Credit Card Authority form to expedite processing.

Access

Clients have access to their personal information at anytime. Prior to making reservations, clients have the opportunity to change or update their information either electronically or by advising any of our team.

Complaints

Clients can contact Pulse Travel about complaints they may have with their privacy and how it's managed by Pulse Travel. These complaints are taken seriously and normally resolved expeditiously. Complaints should be acknowledged immediately or within 7 days and they are programmed to be resolved with 14 days. Some complaints require the attention of third parties or by suppliers. Naturally these may take a little longer.

Complaints also allow Pulse Travel an opportunity modify our internal procedures to better serve our extended client base.
